

MILLERS POINT APARTMENT

LOCATION: MILLERS POINT, SYDNEY
YEAR: 2017

Located within Sydney's landmark Observatory Tower, the apartment occupies a corner position with expansive northern views, taking advantage of brilliant natural light. The interior of this apartment was re-planned in its entirety accomodating three bedrooms, study, cellar and expansive living areas.

This private sanctuary elevates the standard for urban tranquility with thoughtful interiors designed by Redgen Mathieson. Sculptural lightness pervades the vast open-plan living that is inspired by a unison of both art and design.

The spaces mimic those of a gallery and set out to create an environment that evokes a sense of elegance through a harmonious balance of space and light.

Responsive to the changing shades of day and evening, a refined palette of muted materials, including limestone and dark stained oak, allows light to transform and animate the space.

Perfectly positioned, the residence enjoys intimate views of Sydney's Harbour Bridge and Opera House.
